

WOMEN'S HOME DEFENSE WORK FOR THE YEAR

Activities of Women's Branch of County Organization Have Reached Into Every Hamlet and In City They Have Greatly Assisted War Work.

The first annual meeting of the Women's Branch of the Ulster County Home Defense was held on Monday afternoon at the court house, and the reports as given showed that the women of Ulster county have been right on the job as far as war work has been concerned this past year, especially in connection with the Home Defense program. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker, who recalled that on November 12, 1917, fifty women from the city and county met in the supreme court chambers of the court house and were organized into the Woman's Branch of the Home Defense of Ulster County. The purpose of the organization was to accomplish war work in the most efficient manner with a minimum of effort through careful organization.

Mrs. Schoonmaker then called for the report of the secretary, which was in substance as follows: At a meeting subsequent to the initial meeting the following officers were chosen to form an executive board to consist of eleven members: Chairman, Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker; first vice chairman, Mrs. John G. Van Etten; second vice chairman, Mrs. N. D. J. Murphy; recording secretary, Miss Ellen Van Slyke; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Richard Tappen; treasurer, Mrs. George Hutton; chairman food conservation committee, Mrs. M. J. Michael; chairman organization committee, Mrs. Francis J. Higgins; chairman publicity committee, Mrs. C. N. Reed; chairman home and foreign relief committee, Mrs. Charles De La Vergne; Mrs. William Lawton.

Since the election of these officers, Mrs. Tappen has resigned as corresponding secretary and Mrs. Charles M. Hall has been named her successor; Miss Ellen Van Slyke has resigned as recording secretary and her unexpired term is being filled by Mrs. Joseph M. Fowler; and Mrs. C. N. Reed has resigned as chairman of the publicity committee, the vacancy being still unfilled.

During the year the following additional committees have been formed with the following chairmen: Soldiers' reception, Miss Helen Westbrook; child welfare, Mrs. Thomas Edmondson; fuel conservation, Mrs. C. W. Hasbrouck; land army, Mrs. Leggett; entertainment, Mrs. J. O. Winston; Mrs. Schoonmaker, Mrs. Corbitt and Mrs. Cauter have been assigned to the advisory council on motor corps, and are serving with Frank Kendall and Captain Everett Fowler.

According to the report of the treasurer, Mrs. George Hutton, the receipts of the organization have been for the year, $55, with the expenditures, $48, leaving $7 in the treasury at the present time.

In order to link up with every individual in the city and county, an organization committee was formed and Mrs. Schoonmaker called upon its chairman, Mrs. Francis J. Higgins, to tell how this work had been accomplished.

Mrs. Higgins first called attention to an excellent map of Ulster county (made especially for the Woman's Home Defense Committee through the kindness of Mrs. Schoonmaker, which showed Kingston as the center of the county circulating system. From this center the organization was extended to townships and from them to villages, as follows: In each township there is a committee composed of a chairman and three or five members. Under this center are formed sub-committees in the villages, whose chairman report to the township chairmen.

A unit system has also been formed in the city, with a chairman for each of the thirteen wards, such chairman to appoint her own committee. There have been 27 meetings of the organization committee and 19 townships have been visited through the courtesy of the members of the committee and members of the Motor Corps. The thanks of the committee were due Mrs. John B. Kearney for having had made a correct blue print of the boundaries of the 13 city wards. Mrs. Higgins recalled Mrs. Schoonmaker having called a meeting of township and city chairmen at Wilkeson Inn last April for the purpose of bringing the members of the organization together. Following a delicious luncheon, the women were addressed by Mrs. Cape. Mrs. Higgins thanked the chairman, Mrs. Schoonmaker, the officers and members of the organization for their assistance in the work of the organization committee and further thanked Mrs. Woerner, Judge Hasbrouck's stenographer and the Motor Business School for special stenographic and type-written work done for the committee gratuitously. Before closing her report, Mrs. Higgins called upon Mrs. Simmons, chairman of the city wards, for a report of that special branch of the organization committee work.

Mrs. Simmons reported that since the organization of the city wards, assistance has been given in the distribution of food cards, and the securing of conservation pledges, fol-

NOTED CATHOLICS
AT FARLEY'S BIER

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 24.—The funeral of John Cardinal Farley, late archbishop of the diocese of New York, at St. Patrick's Cathedral today was attended by the most notable representation of Catholicism New York has ever known.

The nation, state and city united in honoring the great priest. Messages expressing the feeling of loss at the cardinal's death were read from Pope Benedict, President Wilson, Governor Whitman of New York, Mayor Hylan of this city, and from other dignitaries of states, cities and foreign nations.

Three cardinals, seven archbishops and six bishops of the Roman Catholic Church in America sat within the chancel during the ceremonies which preceded the placing of the body in the cathedral crypt. Cardinals Gibbons of Baltimore, O'Connell of Boston, and Hugh of Quebec, with the apostolic delegate, Archbishop Bonzano, occupied thrones canopied in purple and black, beside the altar. Archbishops present were Dennis J. Dougherty of Philadelphia, John Shaw of New Orleans, George W. Mundelein of Chicago, John G. Glennon of St. Louis, Henry Mueller of Cincinnati, Norbert Trischberger of Cleveland, and Paul Bruchesi of Montreal.

The bishops included Charles E. McDonnell of Brooklyn; Thomas Byrne of Nashville; John J. Mooney of Wilmington, Del.; John J. O'Connor of Newark; Peter J. Muloon of Rockford, Ill.; Thomas F. Hickey of Rochester; Daniel Pechan of Fall River; John F. Farrelly of Cleveland; John Grimes of Syracuse; Joseph Schwaib of Toledo; James H. Conroy, of Ogdensburg; John J. McCord, auxiliary bishop of Philadelphia; Patrick Hayes, bishop in ordinary for the Army and Navy; William T. Russell, of Charleston, S. C., and Thomas J. Walsh, of Trenton.

An impressive and solemn pageant preceded the high requiem mass, the celebrant of which was the Most Rev. John Bonzano, apostolic delegate from Rome to Washington. The burial oration was delivered by the

TROPHY TRAIN WON'T STOP HERE

Owing to Fact That Band Will Play Here War Relic Exhibit Will Not Be Shown in Kingston.

At a recent meeting of the county chairman of the Fourth Liberty Loan Drive held at Hotel TenByck in Albany the matter of special attractions in connection with the Liberty Drive were discussed. It was decided that Kingston being one of the larger cities it was entitled to the visit of the French Army Band which will play here on Monday, September 30, and for that reason the trophy train will not stop at Kingston as the two attractions will not visit the same place.

Those who are interested in seeing the war relic exhibit, however, may have the opportunity of visiting the trophy train at Port Jervis where it is scheduled to stop, Sunday, September 29, at noon. The next stop is Saugerties where it is scheduled to arrive at 3:15 o'clock that afternoon.

As seen by the official schedule the trophy train is slated for three stops in Ulster Co. The third stop is at Marlborough where it is scheduled to arrive at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning. According to the official schedule the train will stop for two and a half hours at each place.

TOOK ENEMY ALIEN AT HUDSON

Frank Innerkoffer, an Austrian prisoner of war, who escaped from an English prison several months ago, and who has been sought by the authorities of England, France and the United States, as a dangerous enemy alien, was arrested Monday afternoon at Hudson by John Dolan, inspector for the department of justice of Albany, where he found Innerkoffer working as a machinist. Innerkoffer, according to an English report, was captured by the French. He was sent to England and interned for the duration of the war. He then escaped to America.

The man was taken to Albany by Inspector Dolan, who placed him in jail.

BULGARS AND TURKS IN DEMORALIZED RETREAT

Allies Chasing Enemy on Hundred-Mile Balkan Front—British Have Over 25,000 Turks—Operations on West Front Favorable.

Overwhelming successes by the Allied armies in Macedonia and Palestine overshadowed activities elsewhere today.

Serbian, French, British, Italian and Greek troops today continued to smash the demoralized rear guards of the Bulgarian armies and the reinforcements on a front of nearly a hundred miles.

Serbian troops are reported to have advanced twenty miles in the past 48 hours, making the total depth of their progress sixty miles since September 15. Sweeping down on the Vardar plains with French troops they have taken several railway trains and have crossed the Vardar river, capturing the Drenka and Planina massifs.

The cutting of the railway line on the Vardar plain between Uskub and Salonika threatens the fleeing enemy with the utmost peril. But an even greater peril is indicated by the latest Serbian official statement which announces that the Serbians have taken a number of points on the Gradska-Prilep railway line. This has been the main line of communication for the enemy above Monastir.

Apparently the only chance for the Bulgar-German forces to make a stand is to retreat to Veles, the next base on the Vardar or to continue their flight to Uskub, even farther away. If the former point is selected the Bulgar-German forces will have to run the serious risk of being cut off by the Franco-Serbian armies which are pressing relentlessly forward, on their left.

Both Manastir and Ghevgeli have been liberated from the artillery fire of the enemy through the flight of the enemy forces, which have abandoned their guns in some instances.

On the left wing of the Serbian front the Italians are meeting with continual triumph. They are reported to have liberated twenty villages in an advance of more than ten miles. The Greeks, also, have pressed forward more than ten miles along the valley of the Vardar.

The British forces have captured Dolran, and pressing onward for three miles, were last reported in the region northwest of Lake Dolran.

In Palestine, General Allenby's forces and the Arabian allies are striking as continuously against the demoralized Turkish forces as the Allied armies in Macedonia are against the Bulgar-German armies.

The latest official report issued by the British war office announces that the prisoners of General Allenby's army now greatly exceed the 25,000 previously announced. The Turks are fleeing in the direction of Amman but are closely pursued by the British, who have taken Essaf and Haifa.

The Arabian regulars, Bedouin levies, are rendering valuable assistance by harassing the Turkish troops in addition to occupying Maan.

While not so spectacular in their activities, the Allied forces on the western front are not to be entirely disregarded.

British forces are hammering against the enemy in the Verdun sector, threatening St. Quentin. While the French reported no infantry activity to the south of St. Quentin, the French guns were booming steadily, co-operating with the British movement to the northward.

British forces gained some ground west of Cambrai. They also pressed the enemy in Flanders, re-taking some old British positions near Voormezele, to the south of Ypres. Patrol work occupied the attention of the American forces on the Lorraine front and in Alsace. The gradual increase in the artillery fire of the enemy in this region indicates that the Germans are emplacing their big guns which they moved backward in the face of the recent American advance.

B. S. L. CAPTURES METZ FORTRESS

Basing his work probably on the crazy ringing of the city fire alarm this morning, the B. S. L. started a report that Metz had been captured and, of course, found many ready to believe the story. Metz has not been captured by the Americans.

Neither has the Count of Monte Cristo captured the Prince of Palsen, nor has the Baron Munchausen surrendered to Sir Lancelot Gulliver. The Germans failed to capture Verdun after trying for six months and taking 500,000 men. Metz is as strong as Verdun. It will not be captured in a day. It may and probably will be starved into surrender. It has been cut off for six months or so. People who stop to reason will not become excited over the tales of the B. S. L.

Further details of the coming exhibition, which will undoubtedly attract wide attention in Kingston and Ulster county, will be announced later.

SPANISH INFLUENZA IN POUGHKEEPSIE

Reports from Poughkeepsie physicians indicate that Poughkeepsie is hit hard by a Spanish influenza epidemic. More than one hundred cases and two deaths have been reported in the city. Dr. Frank C. Furlong is credited with having nearly fifty cases under his care at this time. Dr. Scott Lord Smith of the staff of Vassar Brothers' hospital says Poughkeepsie has many cases. Other physicians are skeptical as to the number of cases reported. One physician says he has seen no cases at all and believes those reported are severe colds. He says, however, that Poughkeepsie is certain to have some cases.

FOOD SHOW AT HIGH SCHOOL NEXT MONTH

October 9 and 10 Fixed as Dates for Exhibiting what Has Been Raised in Kingston's Gardens the Past Summer.

October 9 and 10 are the dates fixed for Kingston's food raising exhibit to be held at the Kingston High School under the auspices of the board of education, the Ulster Garden Club and the Chamber of Commerce. There will also be a display of the Red Cross work accomplished at the high school and other interesting features. Prizes will be awarded.

Professor Robert J. Service, of the high school faculty, who is the junior extension leader in the co-operative extension work in agriculture and home economics, stated today that it is planned to show to some extent what has been accomplished during the past summer in the city's gardens.

The exhibit will be in charge of the agricultural committee of the Ulster Garden Club, the Chamber of Commerce and the board of education, and will be held in the high school gym and adjoining rooms. There will be contests and prizes for vegetables, especially for winter vegetables, such as potatoes, corn, etc. The Boy Scouts will have an exhibit, the Farm Bureau of the county will have a booth, the conservation agent will be represented, and it is expected that members of the local police department, who have had such large war gardens, will be asked to display their products.

The exhibit will be open both afternoon and evening, especially invited to exhibit what they have raised in their gardens. Canned goods as well as fresh goods will be displayed. Any one who has a practical method of conserving which has proven of value to them personally is asked to exhibit it at the show.

The rock bottom reason for holding the exhibit and show is to emphasize the need of conserving food and the best method of doing it. Fruits and exhibits and other forms of food will be exhibited. There will also be an exhibit of the industrial arts department of the city schools and the domestic science department.

Further details of the coming exhibition, which will undoubtedly attract wide attention in Kingston and Ulster county, will be announced later.

MISS GARY AIDING LAND ARMY DRIVE

With Speak at High School Tonight—Ulster Campaign Progressing Favorable As Is Also State Work.

The Woman's Land Army drive to raise $600,000 in New York state to organize next year's camps of "farmerettes" is meeting with great enthusiasm throughout the state.

This evening Miss Sophia Cary will speak with others at the high school auditorium in the interest of the Woman's Land Army drive. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock, and it is expected that there will be a large attendance. Miss Cary is a member of the National Land Council of England, and she is said to be a very interesting speaker. She will tell in detail of the success of the Land Army movement in England.

The women of Ulster county connected with the movement are working hard to secure their quota of members. Each day under the direction of the chairman of the publicity committee, Mrs. George Washburn, the townships are visited by the women under their respective captains to distribute the campaign literature.

Last week Shokan and Shandaken were visited by Mrs. F. J. Higginson and Mrs. Look. On Monday Mrs. George Washburn and Mrs. Everett Fowler visited Esopus, Highland, Marlborough and Catskill.

Mr. Charles Warren, captain, visited Kyserville and Napanoch, while Mrs. James Fuller and team visited Lake Katrine, Saugerties and Woodstock, and Mrs. James O. Winston, captain, and Miss Haldane visited Rosendale, New Paltz, Gardiner and Wallkill.

In one of the townships visited by Mrs. Winston and Miss Haldane, the owner of a large farm was found cutting corn alone, being unable to get men to help him. He said when he learned the object of the drive, "For God's sake don't bring me literature, but bring on your army."

There will be many similar expressions before next year, showing how urgent is the need now to organize in advance of next spring's planting season, so that volunteers can be enlisted and farmers notified at once of what labor they can count on. Only by prompt action can next year's crops be increased as they should be.

The booths at Rose Gorman and Rose, up and downtown post offices, and Forsyth & Davis, are now open every day to receive memberships: Tiller $1; planter $5; gleaner $25, and harvester $100.

WOMEN'S HOME HOME DEFENSE WORK FOR THE YEAR

boy sent ten cents which will take care of one child one day. Mrs. De La Vergne closed her report with a reading from John Kendrick Bangs relative to this merciful work which together with the report elicited much applause.

At the National Defense Council held in Washington, the importance of disseminating educational propaganda of various sorts was noted, and in compliance with the request, the educational committee was formed. Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck chairman. This committee was so fortunate as to secure the services of two very able overseas speakers who addressed "large, interested, and illuminated audiences, telling of different actual phases of the war. Many men and women have graciously given their time to speak in high schools, parochial schools and before children of foreign extraction. Joseph Mayone of Glasco, who was interested in the work through Miss Mc Gill of the committee, was given hearty thanks for having had translations into Italian made of several hundred copies of educational matter, which was distributed up down the river in nearby sections. Dr. Stern assumed the task of spreading the educational message at the Jewish Synagogues and Mr. Kaplan at Union street synagogue. The talks in the public and parochial schools were for the most part preceded by patriotic programs. Speakers on educational topics in the city have been Vincent A. Gorman, Superintendent V. J. Michael, Mrs. Michael, Miss Claffin, Mrs. Everett Fesenden, Mrs. M. J. Michael, Mrs. P. J. Gallagher, Mrs. T. J. Hickey, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Van Buren, John Kearney, John Eckert, Mr. Cook, John Hardenburgh, Senator Walton and the Polish priest, while the country has been visited by Mrs. John Seamus, Dr. Mary Gage-Day, Mrs. Weed and Dr. Baragwanath.

The educational work of the press of the entire county was mentioned with appreciation and thanks. Late in April the Women's Home Defense Committee of Ulster County asked for a committee of women to act as hostesses to soldiers en route to embarkation camps, who might be detained here for an hour or more. Miss Helen Westbrook, chairman of this committee, reported that on May 6th, members of her committee distributed 178 boxes of cigarettes to soldiers waiting in the north yard of the W. S. R. R. Even dividing a box between two soldiers there were not enough cigarettes to go around, and the subsequent visit found the committee fully equipped. From May 6 to June 14 the committee made 7 visits to troops passing through the city and distributed 12 gross of cigarettes, besides chocolate, fruit, chewing gum, Sunday newspapers, and magazines. There has been a call since June 14th, but up to that time about 6,000 of our boys have been made a little happier by the efforts of the committee.

In connection with the entertainment work, Mrs. Winston, chairman of the entertainment committee reported that there had been collected and deposited in the National Ulster County Bank the sum of $316.30, covering contributions received through the medium of chain parties, for the benefit of the Soldiers Gasoline and Smoke Fund.

In July a request came from the surgeon general's office that a ten days' drive be made for the enrollment of student nurses. Miss M. E. Ryan was named chairman to take charge of this work, and reported that through the publicity given to the movement by the clergymen of the churches, in the press, etc., and furthermore by the aid of the motor corps in taking committee members throughout the county, thirteen nurses had been enrolled in the Student Nurse Reserve.

Mrs. T. H. Edmonston, chairman of the Child Welfare Committee, stated that this committee had found it necessary to organize with a secretary and treasurer, and said that Miss Risley, the secretary, would give the committee's report, which was practically as follows:

The committee was formed at the request of the national council that it might carry out the plans suggested by the federal government, making the year, April 1, 1918-April 1, 1919, "Children's Year."

The committee was asked to take the initiative in having all children under school age weighed and measured, and a record sent to Washington.

For use in this work the committee received its share of 5,338,000 record cards, distributed throughout the country. The committee first assisted Miss Stuart, of the County Food Conservation Committee, in the milk campaign and food demonstrations held in Kingston in June.

Three stations where milk and its by-products were sold and where various groups were prepared, were opened in the city under the direction of Miss Stuart. Thanks to the Kingston Dairy Company, who gave the milk, cheese and ice cream, and others who gave their services, the day netted a profit of $60, a portion of which has been used to buy milk for babies in homes where it could not otherwise have been provided. On request of Miss Bates, employed by the board of health to take charge of the child welfare work, model infant lectures for her station were provided through a sub-committee.

The Parent-Teacher Associations and the band workers of the Home Defense had efficiently co-operated in the present Child Welfare campaign of weighing, measuring, etc. At present all stations except the city station are closed and because of contagious diseases among the children these stations will remain closed and the work discontinued.

The committee further reported that the interest shown in the present case of children had ample reward in the work for the effort. The committee has been surprised and the work has been taken up throughout the entire county in a most satisfactory manner, so that more than 2,000 children's records have been filed, and the educational influence of the campaign has been far reaching.

During the past week a drive for membership in the Woman's Land Army of the state has been inaugurated, with Mrs. Hollister Sturges as chairman and the Woman's Home Defense Committee co-operating. Mrs. Sturges was present and answered several questions relative to the work.

Another exceedingly interesting report was that of Lieutenant White, commanding officer of the Ambulance Corps, Home Defense Reserve.

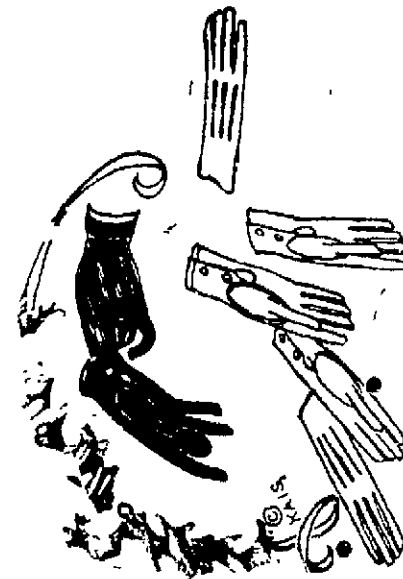

The Ambulance Corps of the Home Defense Reserve of Ulster County was organized, pursuant to the laws of the state and under orders of the adjutant general on July 10, 1918, and on that date was numbered into the service, as an adjunct to Company M, First New York Infantry, by Captain Everett Fowler, commanding officer of that company.

The Ambulance Corps is composed of young ladies owning or driving automobiles who have offered their services and the use of their cars to the state for the duration of the war, to the purpose of the organization of the ambulance service for state and national forces, and to provide necessary transportation for the Red Cross and the Home Defense Committee of Ulster county.

In addition to an immense amount of incidental work, the members of the Ambulance Corps have made 25 military trips covering a mileage of 1,222 miles. The calls included transportation of sick and wounded from aqueduct camps to Benedictine Sanitarium, Kingston City Hospital

GOOD WRITERS CAUGHT NAPPING

Students of the English language have long known that the split infinitive is widely condemned and should be avoided, but every observant reader is aware that many good writers may occasionally be caught napping in this particular. The reason for this is not far to seek. To avoid placing the qualifying adverb between the "to" and the associated verb in every case appears at times to be difficult, even awkward and it is only the very watchful who never offend the purists by such a collocaction. A recent bold defender of the split infinitive repudiates the incautious assertion that the outlawed form is a modern perversion and willfully splits an infinitive in contending that it is but a natural arrangement of words "to forcefully express thought"—refusing to say "forcefully to express thought" or "to express thought forcefully." He asserts that it is not the modern error it is commonly believed to be, declares that he has found examples of it in Shakespeare and Macbeth, and that other investigators have found it in Sir Thomas Browne, De Foe, Samuel Johnson, Little Lamb, Macaulay, Ruskin, Herbert Spencer, Coleridge, Matthew Arnold, Browning, Motley, Lowell and Holmes.

Even in the presence of these imposing names it remains to be said that other forms condemned by the grammarians may be found occasionally in both the classics and in prominent modern writers, and that in our time no careful writer who pays attention to style wishes to be caught perpetrating a split infinitive. It is a question of whether one is to ignore or be guided by the consensus of the critical opinion of one's own period. The defender of the outlawed form says further: "Byron wrote, 'To slowly trace the forest's shady scene,' and on that account was dubbed 'the father of the split infinitive,' by the London Academy. But before him Burns wrote, 'Who dared to nobly stem tyrannic pride.'"

This overlooks the fact that poetic license is supposed to permit what would be condemned in the prose of the stylist. If Byron had written "To trace slowly the forest's shady scene," his rhythm would have been shattered, but he would have avoided a split infinitive and perhaps would not have seriously disturbed his rhythm if he had written, "slowly to trace the forest's shady scene." In the Burns quotation, however, "nobly to stem" or "to stem nobly" would have been equally disastrous, as the sensitive ear will perceive. It seems safe to conclude, therefore, that although the split infinitive can and should be avoided in prose, the demands of metrical form may require its occasional employment in verse.

If a certain octogenarian of New Jersey had been in the predicament of Coleridge's "Ancient Mariner," instead of complaining of "water, water everywhere" nor any drop to drink," he would have leaned over the gunwale, dipped up a bucketful of brine and slaked his thirst. According to the story printed about him, this old man of eighty years "looks ferdy, has neither wrinkle nor gray hair, and works ten hours every week day"—all because of a glass of sea water taken every morning! The results long ago convinced him that he had found his fountain of youth. As that fountain is as big as the seven seas combined, it can be no man's monopoly. There is enough sea water for us all—if we can force it down, after succumbing in wallowing to the Jersey story itself.

With the infant death rate the highest in the world and its effect on the birth rate very low, the people of New York state will find that the pouring of adequate funds in the State Health Department under the error Whitman's administration has been intelligent economy. State laboratories have been enlarged and provisions made for increasing the output of health serums to meet the demands of the government. A closer sanitary supervision of the state, the establishment of county tuberculosis hospitals and the education of the public in matters of health and sanitation during the past four years is producing important results.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Yes, that's Captain Deeping's wife. His boat went down with all on board." "How sad!" "Not at all. His boat's a submarine."—Boston Transcript.

"My former maid has not been married a year yet, and already she is taking in washing." "What is her husband doing?" "Oh, he's taking in the proceeds."—Baltimore American.

"An egg is mighty valuable these days." "Of course," assented Farmer Cornstout. "An egg will bring almost enough to pay for feeding the hen until she lays the next one."—Washington Star.

"I love the ground you walk on." "You inconstant rascal! I know you've been engaged to four girls." "Still you can't accuse me of inconstancy. They all walked on this same ground."—Louisville Journal.

"The first thing I did when I got an office," said Senator Sorghum, "was to have a lot of photographs taken." "And were they in demand?" "They were inside of twenty-four hours I heard a man say he wanted a good look at the picture of the roughneck who had put it over on the voters of his town."—Washington Star.

His Simple Request.

"I am now prepared to answer any questions you may care to ask," said the lecturer.

"Any one barred?" asked a man inside the audience.

"Certainly not," replied the man on the platform.

"Then just wait a few minutes will you mister till I run home and get that four-year-old kid of mine. He's got a few hard ones that I'd like to have you answer for me."—Detroit Free Press.

Not Her Experience.

A stout, elderly woman stopped a clerk in a Cincinnati book department and demanded in a voice with a strong German accent a book suitable for a bridal couple and costing not more than 25 cents.

The clerk selected Henry Van Dyke's "The Pathway to Peace," and suggested that it would be the proper book for the bridal couple.

The customer took one look at the title, threw up her hands and exclaimed: "Ach, Gott, No!"—Harper's Weekly.

Dangers of Smiling.

They were speaking of the rarest things that the fair sex occasionally hand each other the other night when this incident was recalled by Dr. James A. MacDonald, editor of the Toronto Globe.

Some time since two young women were standing with locked arms beside a paper mache palm tree at a gird reception, when one of the pair observed that the other smiled broadly at the least provocation.

"My dear Bessie," remarked the observing one "if I were you I would not smile so frequently."

"Why not, Marie?" laughingly queried the other. "Do you think it is dangerous?"

"Yes, I think it is," was the jocular response of Marie. "When a smile lightens up your face it might get off the powder."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Battered and Bruised.

He was battered, he was bruised, many parts of his anatomy could safely have been labelled "missing," and all over he wore an expression of the most miserable dejection. "Been in a railway smash?" asked a sympathizer.

"No."

"Airplane, perhaps?"

"No, dash you."

"Reg pardon but, really, how did you get hurt?"

"I fell out of a window."

"How?"

"Well, I was cleaning the window when my wife said, 'Do be careful, Henry. And I'm not the man to be dictated to by any woman, so down I went.'—London Press.

Allan Helps to Homer.

A Y. M. C. A. athletic director was teaching an international crowd of soldiers to play baseball in a field not very far back from the lines. He had been coaching a young chap from Morocco for several days. Just as the black-faced fighter took up the bat, he raised his right hand, turned his face toward the east and with great reverence said:

"Allah he praised." Then he began to run.

The next man at the bat was a husky young American. Raising his hand high and glancing at the same beautiful sky, the boy from home said:

"You know me, Al." He got beamed.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR NEW REGISTRANTS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 24.—Provost Marshal General Crowder today issued a statement for the guidance of all men who registered September 12, reiterating that if they expect or are entitled to deferred classification on grounds of dependency or occupation, they should so state in their questionnaires. While local boards have the power to grant deferred classification on these grounds even when no claim is made, the fact should not be lost sight of, that where 13,000,000 men are involved, many boards are sure to overlook meritorious cases, General Crowder declared.

DEGRAFF IN LINE FOR COMMISSION

One of Four Selected From His Regiment to Enter Officers' Training School in Saumur, France.
Abram V. DeGraff of Washington avenue has recently received the following letter from his son, Sergeant Delaney A. DeGraff:

Saumur, France, August 30, 1918.
Dear Dad:
Have been sent up here to an artillery school to train for an officer. Four candidates were selected from my regiment, and I was one of the lucky four. It is one of the best training schools in the world, and I consider myself lucky to come here. It was here that Napoleon's generals were trained. One of Teddy's sons, Kormit, is here taking the course. He is a captain in the British army. Any man has a chance in these troublous days and times if he has the ability. I certainly am glad I started from the bottom of the ladder. See, I was an enlisted private, was made corporal, then sergeant on merit, and now I hope to become a lieutenant. There are several fellows here from our regiment, who went to the last training camps in the States and they piled us with questions as to how the boys came out of the front. We came out O. K. We were mentioned in orders by Gen. Pershing, but I imagine you have seen it in the papers by this time, also the place where we were at. I can't tell you that, but I can say it was mighty lively there. We had a nice trip coming here and this is a beautiful place. It sure is a pleasure to get here after the hardships of the front. But I wouldn't part with my experiences at the front for anything. Sure will have lots of experiences to tell you when I get back. I expect to be here three months, for that is the length of the course. Haven't had any mail from home in a long time. You people don't seem to know that I am a sergeant and I have been that for a long time. Write me real often and send the next Red Book. I am in very good health, and hope that all the home folks are. Lots of love to all.
DELANEY.
My address is: Set. D. A. DeGraff, A. P. O. 718, Saumur, France.

FIRST KINGSTON MAN KILLED IN BATTLE

GEORGE FREDERICK SCHIRICK.

At the recent patriotic meeting of Franklin Lodge, K. of P., Mr. Prophet spoke as follows:

The first picture to be shown to you tonight is of special significance to Kingston. It is of the first Kingston boy to be killed in action in France. George Frederick Schirick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eustace Schirick of Downs street. To him belongs the honor of having been the first boy to literally bring this world war to our very doors, into our own homes. To him belongs also the great glory of having met the manly test of supreme love for one's friends, for "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends," and so all its sons for a brother nation that has been proved true, and we are France, the nation that first taught us the noble Pythian virtue of friendship as a national virtue, by having laid down the lives of its sons.

HOT AT CAMP JACKSON.

Schwab Writes of Intensive Military Instruction.

The contribution of the Kingston post office force to the last contingent of recruits was William N. Schwab, the special delivery messenger, who left carrying wrist watches, money belt and other tokens, the gifts of his fellow employees, with a formal dedication of his life to the service of smashing the Kaiser and His Royal Nobles, the Crown Prince, made by Postmaster W. C. DeWitt. This young patriot has now written from Camp Jackson as follows:

Battery E.
7th Reg., 3rd Brig.,
F. A. R. D.,
Camp Jackson.

Dear Sir:
Arrived at Camp Jackson and like it very much. It is awfully warm here, but cool nights. There are 9,000 men here mostly from the south. The artillery is considered as the highest branch of the service, and believe me they sure do drill us some. Everything is done in double quick time. Everything here is military discipline and courtesy. We drill about 8 hours a day and have the military duties read to us by the lieutenant at nights, so you see we don't have much time to ourselves. Got the needle twice as they call it and quarantined in for two weeks. That is the hardest part of the army I have found yet. The Y. M. C. A. here is sure good to the fellows. Columbia, S. C., is the nicest city about 6 miles away. Have not been yet, but hope to soon.

Well, Mr. DeWitt, I guess I will have to close, thanking you for what you have done for me. I sure did appreciate it.

Yours truly,
WM. N. SCHWAB.

A wire cooch was opened a few days ago at Morgan Hill and an immense coil of wire was brought in to the Postmaster DeWitt by two women, who found it.
